Dear readers
Greetings!

The months of October to December hold a different charm and challenge. Preparation for Annual Function goes in full swing. The students also balance their academics. The entire school is filled with incomparable energy and enthusiasm.

Our school annual function is special in a way. Apart from 100% participation, we strive to make this event a great learning experience for our children. Much brainstorming and discussion goes into selecting the themes. We aim towards making some value addition to the child's knowledge and personality and enhance their appreciation of the culture and roots. Their worldview gets enriched. Teachers put in a lot of efforts to research and then explain the themes to the children so that they are aware of what they are performing and why it is necessary.

We feel that as citizens of this great country and the World at large, it is our responsibility as educators and mentors to ensure that our children, our future becomes responsible and glorious. In this stream, we would like to thank our management and parents for supporting and motivating us.

With this I forward this edition of Pulse for your reading. Happy Reading!

Why Holistic Education is the need of the Hour?

Holistic education is an approach to teaching that seeks to address the intellectual, emotional, social, physical, artistic, creative, and spiritual potentials of students. This method of education goes beyond traditional academic learning to encompass a broader spectrum of human development.

Every child is unique and is born with some talent or potential. Similarly, every child's learning strategy is different, that is where Multiple Intelligence and Experiential Learning come into play. We cannot only depend upon the traditional academic learning where students mostly focus on the grasping of the syllabus. We also must explore the interconnectedness of various subjects and domains.

CBSE now focusses more on Competency based or Application based learning so that learning should not be restricted for examination purposes but be relevant in life too.

Holistic learning targets all aspects of a child's development. Hence, it is self-explanatory that children should be given knowledge and skill in all aspects of human development. A very delicate balance has to be created so that all these aspects can be justifiably incorporated, mostly within the school calendar and to some extent at home and society.

Holistic Learning can be implemented in schools through Integrated Curriculum, Mindfulness and Well-being, Arts and Creativity, Outdoor and Environmental Education, Character Education, etc.

Parents have the responsibility of understanding and encouraging their ward to participate full-fledged in classroom competitions and activities, curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities. Through these activities, the children learn a lot about experiential learning, managing emotions, teamwork, sincerity towards a task, application of knowledge in real life, etc.

Parents should also guide the children that learning and participation is more important than winning at every instance. Children should be counselled that they are their own competitors. They should strive towards bettering themselves, rather than indulge in the vicious cycle of comparison. Appreciating the concept of holistic learning will surely sparkle the personality of our lovely children.

From The Principal

PRE-PRIMARY

Class assemblies are organised regularly to imbibe empathy, good manners and help the children learn discipline & teamwork. The various topics for the special class assemblies were 'Kindness is free; sprinkle it everywhere', Mother nature'..... The children learnt decorating Diyas and also making 'Ganesha' before Diwali. They also enjoyed 'tearing and pasting' activity that displayed their creativity. Our focus is to inculcate & develop different skills to make the kids self-sufficient. Totally adorable and spell binding performances of our tiny tots on the 'Annual Day' impressed the audience beyond expectations. Our preprimary kids also had fun celebrating 'Red Day' & Christmas before the commencement of winter vacation.
